DETAILED ACTION

The amendment filed December 10, 2003 and the remarks presented therewith have been carefully considered and are deemed to overcome the rejections set forth in the last Office action. However, upon further consideration of the prior art, new non-final rejection follows below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1, 2, 5, 6, 10, 12, and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Spears et al. in view of Japanese Patent # 2000044019.

The patent to Spears et al. shows a movable rack system that contains all of the structural elements set forth in the above claims except for a travel amount detection means.

However, Japanese Patent # 2000044019 shows a movable rack system that uses a travel amount detection means (see Figs. 3 and 4) to monitor the distance traveled by a driven wheel (8) in relation to predetermined "stop positions" that can be set and changed.

. Accordingly, it would have been obvious to provide the travel amount detection means and accompanying control means of the Japanese ('019) patent on the Spears et al. system in order to maintain adjacent racks parallel to each other during their movement.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 14-24 are allowed.
4. Claims 3, 4, 7-9, and 11 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Priority

5. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Conclusion
